The image features a rowing team in a blue boat on blue water. The team consists of several members, including a coxswain at the stern and rowers. The boat is a sleek, blue racing shell. The water is a deep blue, and the sky is a lighter blue. At the top of the image, there is a colorful geometric pattern made of various triangles in shades of blue, green, yellow, and red. The title "Program Brief" is written in white, bold, sans-serif font across the top right of the image.

Program Brief

This training program covers the elementary concepts that govern Creative Success Architecture System. Our take on success is inherently different from other experts in human self development, and the concepts they train. Whereas other success methods concentrate on symptoms, Success Architecture concepts are unique, primal, and use core brain functions as an essence. Within its layers, Success Architecture prospective for the pillars of success is authentic, universal, scientific, and primal.

We are not machines, but having said that creation, and us, are composed of natural, biological, and universal systems or mechanisms that are unique and exhibit balancing properties to force control over the Universe. These amazing conceptual mechanisms govern and control us humans internally. Human beings are a mixture of biological systems that care for all our survival functions. Balancing control is forced upon our food intake, breath, blood circulation, breeding, thinking, tissues, muscles, and movement. Human instinct is primarily imprinted within our nervous system to give us life, meaning and intellect to govern our being. We are inherently successful in our lives and are more than capable to fulfill the tasks we were born to achieve. We are on this earth to love, know, build, grow, give thank, and appreciation for being alive; at minimum. We are here to LIVE. Success Architecture considers the universe to be a successful endeavour since it fulfills its destiny, which includes providing planet earth to incubate life in a natural and balanced way. Within this constrain, we consider that all life on earth from planets, animals, and ecological systems to be successful. Our essence is imprinted with primal ingenuity for survival at our roots; we all fulfill our destiny.

Success Architecture is based on the discovery that the intellectual and biological balanced mechanisms for success are the same in all of creation. This basic primal instinctive mechanisms is how our brain works. The brain is the center of control, organization, and supervision as it is the governor on all human bodily functions. Hence, we deduce in Creative Success Architecture System the main mechanisms that work the mind, the universe, and smart automatons, then use this deliberately to our advantage. Humans are intrinsically successful to achieve what's been in plan all along, and because we are unique beings; we can will and wish within certain limits. Once we know this natural primal intellectual mind mechanism; we can harness its forces within the limits of our freedom and with intention.

Mind organization and control springs from the same intellectual mechanisms implanted in this universe to incubate life as one of its capabilities. Human beings have known this, as a matter of fact, for centuries and used it to build, manufacture, and engineering systems and machines to serve and ease our life. Notice that all types of engineering employ the same equilibrium success mechanism that we train in Creative Success Architecture System programs. Of course, by all type of engineering we mean what is curriculumed in Universities today. The oldest engineering discipline is Systems Engineering being taught as part of Electrical Engineering. System Engineering concepts are an essential part of all the types of Engineering; it even has its applications in business and operational sciences. Hence, Computers, Artificial Intelligence, Communication, Electronics, Nuclear, Civil, Mechanical, and Chemical Engineers study and implement the same success mechanism to create equilibrium.

Man is not a machine, but he is equipped with mechanisms, and systems that exhibit biological, chemical, and electrical forces and currents running within his veins to control his actions into a successful existence. This is where the Creative Success Architecture main Concept finds its roots. We consider success to be a type of engineered system and an architecture that is built within our brain. Several emergent forces coil into Success Architecture Energy mechanized to move us forward and fulfill our given plan of action. Unfamiliarity with these crucial concepts prevents us from intentionally achieving our desires, without knowing an apparent reason for being obstructed. A cautionary note here is that most of us fall into this trap and prevent this naturally God given mechanism from being of use to us. This failure trap is difficult to break without the proper knowledge and tools.

This course in our curriculum is a prerequisite for other Success Architecture training programs, as it is the foundation and basis that we will build upon.

Why is this Program Important

Humans are goal seeking beings. We instinctively strive to achieve goals. Man can not be happy and relaxed unless he acknowledges this as a fact of life. Once we know the detrimental variables to the cybernetic mechanism and know its limitations we can put it to work properly. This self balancing and primal success engine is God given. Our Brain and Nervous system are architected to automatically achieve primal instincts engineered within us internally. We are in essence built to survive, build, prosper, and socialize. At the same time, our Brain is amazing, and very effective in accomplishing what we require for it. But, at the same time it can fail, if we did not know how to operate this special mechanism built with our being.

The purpose of this Training Program

Introduce the participants on the components of the Primal Cybernetic Mechanism that is built within, and is a part of our Brains. How do we effectively use this automatic success energy to help us navigate and fulfill our life dreams and goals? What are the incorrect practices that apprehend the workings of this amazing automation; essential for our success, happiness, and creative well being.

Program Training Topics

One: Getting rid of negative mental impressions is one of the most difficult matters humans are faced with. Unfortunately, during our upbringing we are surrounded by major negative attitudes and energies. This negativity within our being conveys itself as the most difficult obstacle that faces the Creative Success Architecture principles. In particular, our ill impressions about ourselves and our potentials. It has even been said: "If you think you can do it, then you are right; and if you think you can not do it, then you are right". There are many examples of negative upbringing in all human societies, but we will see how these obstruct the working of our internal success engine.

Two: The governing principle that gives Success Architecture its automatic mechanics is that the Brain is defined as an Inference Engine. Man is always striving to fulfill his needs and desires, in order to complete himself. We always strive for more money, more children, more relationships, and more ownership as part of our instinctive being. In a spiritual sense we have also learned that the only method to reach self fulfillment is through closeness to the Supreme being. We will see here how does the Brain work as an inference to complete matters for us and what is the relationship between this definition of the brain and Success Architecture.

Three: According to communication experts; life happens entirely inside your Brain. This is somewhat true; one of the definitions of the Brain is that it transforms and embodies outside energies. We explain in this topic how does the brain work, what is the information structure inside our brains? What do we mean when we say internal impressions of the brain? How everyone does his own impression of what is seen? Although our brain aims to transform abstract reality, but its inference property interferes and is biased towards our beliefs, information, and internal data bases. Once we become aware of these possibilities and about types of brain biases we can become better thinkers.

Four: The Negative Feedback mechanism is the universe's answer to energy and force balance. At the same time, achieving balance is a crucial for all living organisms and man-made engineered systems. How does this central mechanism work in System Engineering? What are some of the general properties of systems that we can find in Creative Success Architecture? What are emergent properties? How does this energy become infinite in theory and practice?

Five: How does Negative Feedback work in our Brain to balance our life? How is that related to gaining new skills, and abilities? What does this have to do with the brain being an inference engine (an engine for completing things)? How do we use these natural God-given energies in Creative Success Architecture and automate our desires and goals into achievement? We compare between this mechanism in nature, and inside our Brain.

Six: Paving your course of action is crucial to the workings of Success Architecture. The tools you will learn in our training programs will remove the mystery surrounding your subconscious and primal instincts. How do you go about planning your future after a journey of discovery inside your primal Brain? Your Plans must not contradict any primal Brain hidden agendas. Learn the tools, which take you on a discovery trip inside your personality in order to reveal your true core. Understand your emotions and feeling. How is your plan important to effectively activate your Brain power to take from your environment what pertains to your course of action?

Seven: The Success Architecture Negative Feedback mechanism is abbreviated as (ZAC):

- ⑤ Z is Zoom is for concentrating on a small part of your project. This activates a special energy necessary and important to activate the workings of Creative Success Architecture.
- ⑤ A is Action and executing the goal we are concentrating upon. It is of utmost importance to gain the execution habit and not despair under the first sign of hardship. The continuity of our actions is essential for our brain to correct itself and activate Success Architecture and reorganize its information highways.
- ⑤ C is Consistency and the philosophy of failure and retry activates the Brain initiative to construct super information ways that both speed up our potential and cure the deficiency in our actions.

Eight: How to activate Creative Success Architecture Concepts to work for you automatically as a habit? What are the tools that have a potential of infinite Success Energy? What are the major creative tools that result when making use of Success Architecture and Brain data organization? What are the energies that result from using Success Architecture?
